Larry Cottrell, "Why me?"

It was back on the road again, this time to do battle with a Lone Star Conference opponent in Stephenville, Tarleton State.

It wasn't exactly a 'barn burner' in Stephenville; that is, not until the last few seconds. Both the Texans and Lobos puttered and sputtered and put ten points a piece on the board. It wasn't until the clock read 00:01 in the final quarter that the barn began to burn as the Lobo's little place kicker, Nixon trotted on to the field and arched a 32-yard field goal through the up-rights. The Texan's barn burned to the ground as the final second ticked off to 00:00.

Other Lobo scores came on a 14-yard scamper around the left end by Larry Cottrell early in the fourth quarter and another Archie Nixon field goal mid-way through the first period.

The Lobos opened the '73 campaign on the road, traveling to Portales, New Mexico and the campus of the Eastern New Mexico Greyhounds.

It didn't take the Lobos long to put their first six points on the scoreboard as defensive end Wayne LaFond found a Greyhound fumble in his hands just nine yards from the 'Hounds' own endzone from where he rambled in just two plays after the initial kickoff. The teams later exchanged field goals with Archie Nixon doing the honors for Sully from 26 yards out.

From then on it was a guy named Tom Manley who dominated the action, the Greyhound freshman running back galloped some 151 yards and scored three touchdowns as the 'Hounds' opened up a 24-10 lead.

The Lobos got back on the scoreboard late in the fourth quarter as quarterback Larry Cottrell pitched a scoring strike to split end Billy Byrd. The Lobo score came a little too late as the clock ran down to 00:00 with Sully behind 24-16.

The home fans were itching, it was near the end of September and the Lobos were finally playing on their own turf at Jackson Field. The opponent, from the other side of the Lone Star State, Sam Houston State, the Bearkats.

It was back and forth, for both the score and the Lobo quarterbacks. The score bounced, the 'Kats 7; Lobos 0; Lobos 8; 'Kats 7; 'Kats 16; Lobos 14; the quarterbacks bounced, Smitty McKenzie dives over on a one yard plunge, Larry Cottrell hit Randy Moldenhauer with a pass for the two point conversion, McKenzie directs a drive of 77 yards, Cottrell hits Byrd for 31 yards.

The two Lobo quarterbacks directed the team in different forms and fashions to result in a 26 to 16 Lone Star Conference victory when the clock read 00:00. Fullback Randy Moldenhauer contributed with two touchdown plunges and Nixon arched a 27-yard field goal.

On October 13, 1973, Sul Ross celebrated its 50th anniversary of football and honored the man who started it off, the Lobo's first mentor B. C. Graves. During pre-game activities, Coach Graves received a commemorative plaque before the Lobo's annual homecoming game.

The day's opponent was Texas A&A&I, a perennial conference power that for the first time in many years was off to a dismal start.

The Lobos fell behind in the first half as the Javelinas put seven points on the Jackson Field scoreboard. Not to be denied, on this the anniversary and homecoming, Sul Ross marched back with Larry Cottrell scoring from two yards out and evening the score at 7-7.

Again, Nixon was called upon late in the game, this time he arched the ball through from 45 yards away. This established a new record for field goal distance at Sul Ross.

The Lobos clung to their slim lead; as the seconds ticked away from another homecoming. 00:00. Sul Ross 10, Texas A&I 7.

The pre-game prospects: The game will determine who stays in the thick of the Lone Star Conference race and who drops into the catch-up role. The post-game story: The Howard Payne Yellowjackets stuck out a 19-6 win over the sporadic Sul Ross Lobos in Brownwood Saturday night continuing their efforts toward the LSC title.

Sporadic was the proper term; a Lobo drive ending with a Larry Cottrell pass interception on the HPC 17-yard line; and another drive ending on the HPC 24-yard line with Nixon failing to arch one through the up-rights.

More drives, more fumbles, while the 'Jackets put 19 points on the scoreboard, 00:00.

Abilene Christian College had just entered the Lone Star Conference and already they were reaching for the top. Midway through the season the assumption was, "nobody was going to stop ACC." Unless, yes, 'Ole Sully' can pull off any kind of upset—remember?

Some air of optimism was shed through the conference speculators, yet when it was all said and done, the bus ride back from Abilene became extra long.

There were times it looked promising, the Lobos held the potent Wildcat offense to seven points through the first quarter. The Lobos turned to the offense only to be denied on a disputed pass play attempt. A disheartening factor that led to Lobo miscues. At the time 00:00 Abilene Christian 29, Sul Ross 0.

Sul Ross Homecoming

Homecoming '73 at Sul Ross was highlighted by a sparkling slate of activities. Some of the activities included a bonfire, a reunion of Coach Graves and his footballers, the notorious homecoming parade, presentation of Patsy Guerra, Homecoming Queen, and her Court including Esmeralda Rodriguez, Donna Hadamek, Carla Breckles, and Sylvia Flores; and of course, Sul Ross University's 401st gridiron battle ever played—this time against Texas A & I.

As a breather for football fans, one could attend a three act comedy, The Owl and the Pussycot, presented by the Sul Ross Drama department, the women's volleyball game against New Mexico State, or a concert put on by the SRSU Rock Ensemble.

True to tradition, the Lobos defeated Texas A and I 10 to 17 and made another victorious homecoming for Sully.

It was back to the two quarterback show for the Lobos as they met the Stephen F. Austin LumberJacks in Alpine with the hopes that the Lobos could maintain a spot in the first division of the conference standings.

The LumberJacks had but one quarterback and he directed the Jacks to 38 points while the Lobos managed 22.

Smitty McKenzie held the Lobos together, passing for 209 yards and two touchdowns while running for another. Nixon arched a 36 yard field goal through the goal posts.

Once more a new Lobo record was established as Billy Byrd scampered 86 yards with a McKenzie pass during the losing effort—a new pass play distance record.

The Lobos dropped to a 3 wins 4 losses season record while standing 3-3 in conference action.

MVP Billy Byrd scores six for the Red

Remember Sul Ross was the tune they played in Commerce as the Lobos traveled there to meet the East State Lions. It was the Lobos who pinned the Lions with their only conference loss during the '72 campaign which found the Lions as NAIA champions.

East Texas did remember the result of a year ago and answered with a score of 45 to 0. The Lobos failed to mount any offensive pressure while the Lions showed offensive punch from just about every direction.

The Lobos turned the ball over to the Lions on six different occasions, three coming by fumbles and three by pass interception. 00:00.

Nolyn McMoryion receives congratulations after first down catch

Southwest Texas held Sul Ross to minimal yardage as the Bobcats defeated the Lobos in a Lone Star Conference game in San Marcos 28-0.

Again the Lobo offensive unit could not sustain any attack while the Bobcat running backs found the middle of the Sul Ross defensive unit to be good running territory.

The Lobo coaches attempted to use defensive end Wayne LaFond at running back but met with little success as Southwest stacked up everything that came their way.

Angelo State was the Lobos' final opponent as the two teams met at Jackson Field. It was the last appearance for eight seniors in a Lobo uniform.

Once more the Lobos fell behind early in the contest as Angelo's Rams found the running game to be their "cup of tea". The Lobos did come back late in the second quarter with a touchdown pass from Larry Cottrell to Nolyn McMoryion. It again became interesting as the half came to a close with the score Angelo 14, Sul Ross 6.

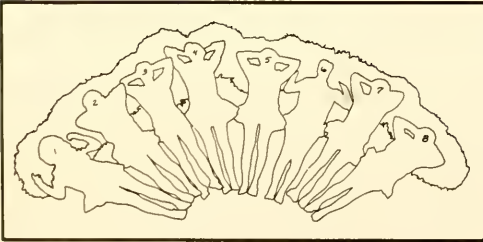

It didn't take long for the Rams to put the ball back on the ground and put another eight points on the board early in the second half. Again the Lobos began to fight back. An Angelo miscue developed into two points for the Lobos in the form of a safety and Smitty McKenzie hit Jimmy Scott with a touchdown strike to make it close. The Lobo effort fell short with the final scoreboard reading 00:00 Angelo State 27, Sul Ross 16.

The Sul Ross Lobo cage crew jumped off to their best start in a number of years claiming four wins in their first five games.

The Lobo season opener, played at the Lubbock Christian College Tournament, went into overtime with the Lobos taking a 70-69 decision over McMurry. Against Lubbock Christian it was much of the same thing, another close one, with the Lobos coming out on top 67-65.

The Lobos played their third consecutive game on the road in Portales, New Mexico against the Eastern New Mexico Greyhounds. The result: similar, but not exactly the same. Another close contest, but with the Greyhounds grabbing the victory, 58-56.

John Fortenberry had his best game of the year against the Greyhounds, scoring 24 points and Willie Elmore grabbed off 15 rebounds in the losing effort.

The Lobos returned home to host the Sul Ross Invitational Tournament and did away with three opponents to capture first place honors. In the Lobos first contest, they pasted the College of Santa Fe, 92-79; the second game went down to the wire with Sul Ross taking a 84-83 victory over Lubbock Christian. The championship game found the Lobos facing Wayland Baptist College. Sul Ross posted a 69-65 victory. Willie Elmore paced the Lobos with 20 points in the championship game and was selected to the All-Tournament team along with John Fortenberry.

The Lobos were back on the road the following week and dropped a rematch with Wayland Baptist on the Pioneer's home court, 77-68.

The Lone Star Conference season got underway midway through December and Sul Ross met newcomer to the conference, Abilene Christian College. The Lobos answered the first round conference bell and came out fighting, posting a 86-83 victory. Again it was Wlmore who paced the Lobos with 21 points and 11 rebounds. Other Lobos contributing points in the victory were Fortenberry with 18 points, Bill Shead with 10 and Gary Barnes with 17.

John Fortenberry tries out for head cheerleader

The second conference matchup was to set a precedent for the remainder of the season for the Lobos. Lobos faltered at the finish dropping a 69-68 decision to Howard Payne.

During the Christmas semester break, the Lobos played two non-conference foes and came away with one loss and one victory. The loss came at the hands of McMurry College, 73-60, on the Indians home court. The victory, in the Lobos HPE Gymnasium, was a convincing one, a 81-67 win over Eastern New Mexico.

The conference race, back on schedule after the semester break, saw the Lobos traveling to Texas A&I and Southwest Texas. The Lobos came out on the short end in the two contests, taking a 71-65 defeat from Texas A&I and a 87-60 trimming at Southwest Texas.

The two perennial powers of the Lone Star Conference came to Alpine in late January and the Lobos seemed ready to pull the carpet out from under their pedestal. Stephen F. Austin, with their usual impressive lineup, saw the Lobos post a 87-82 win. The Lobos had Sam Houston on the ropes during the entire contest in Alpine, but the Lobos let them off late in the contest and the BearKats took a 87-80 victory in overtime.

John Fortenberry shows the pressure of the game

After the breaking loss to Sam Houston, the Lobos headed down hill. The Lobos hit a winless streak that extended into the final contests of the season, dropping close contests time after time. Tarleton State pasted the Lobos 85-71; then an overtime loss to East Texas 100-89; then a last second loss to Angelo State 71-69.

New Mexico provided a break from the conference schedule for the Lobos, but the Lobos continued their downward skid, dropping a 80-61 decision in Las Cruces.

Upon returning to the conference schedule again, the Lobos met with final minute disaster time after time. Howard Payne popped the Lobos 78-73 in Brownwood; Abilene Christian outdistanced the Lobos 99-91 in Abilene and Texas A&I and Southwest Texas topped Coach Chester Story's crew 90-79 and 72-58, respectively, in Alpine.

In both the Texas A&I and Southwest Texas games, the action was fierce. Any time the Javelinas and the Lobos get together, it's bound to be a barn burner. the Javelina's Hoegie Simmons and the Lobo's Tom Richardson had their usual contest of "Mr. Offense vs. Mr. Defense." Ken Lawrence provided much of the scoring punch against Southwest Texas, tallying 23 points.

Against Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin, the second time around, the Lobos met with much of the same results with Sul Ross dropping a 80-70 decision to Sam Houston's BearKats and a 91-83 decision to SFA's Lumberjacks.

Joan Blanton, a Carrollton senior in Drama says, "Theatre is an irresistible, tantalizing experience. All lives are touched by it. Theatre seeks communication, and the learning of that art will aid me in all else I pursue." Joan is also a member of Alpha Psi Omega (Secretary, Vice-President) and Sachems.

"Thinking is the key to learning," states Candy Burnside, a junior Art major. "We have a rare opportunity to learn together. Who's Who Darcy Krumwied, a junior in Business Education and Accounting says, "College students of today seem to be more motivated than they were in previous years. A Physical Education senior, Dennis Carpenter says, "My plans are to become a coach, and . . . to help many young people to learn the values of life that I have obtained through my experiences in sports." Dennis plays football for Sul Ross and has served as Treasurer for Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Jim Gunn, a senior Math major from Pecos writes, "Today's college student wants to acquire knowledge not just for the sake of acquiring knowledge, but to prepare himself for the future." Jim is a member of the Geological Society and Student National Education Association as well as a participant in Sul Ross Intramurals.

Carol McKinnon states, "I feel that a person cannot do his very best in a career unless it is an area of special interest. Horses have always been quite special to me, so I decided long ago to make a career out of raising and training horses." Carol is a senior in Range Animal Science and is quite active in both the Rodeo Club and Riding Club.

Coming from Presidio and majoring in Business Administration is Gloria Baeza who says, "The field of Business Administration is rapidly growing in importance and complexity, and . . . creating an expanding job market. I entertain the hope that I may contribute something to this . . . field." Gloria is a junior carrying a 3.8 GPA.

"Alpine and its isolation is ideal for students seeking a good education," according to Marcia Jones, a Houston junior in Drama. She adds, "Students have more time for studying due to the scarcity of leisure activities." Marcia has a 3.5 GPA and is active in various clubs including Black Students Association (President), Sigma Tau Delta, Alpha Psi Omega, and Schems.

Eleanore Nestlerode, a Houston junior in Geology writes, "Attending college has already, in effect, initiated me into a social structure on a small scale, preparing me for the universal society." Eleanore is a member of Schems (President), Geological Society, and a past contender in the Great Bicycle Race.

Starting out as a Business major, Jesse McWhorter, now a senior in Math, soon discovered his proficiency in the world of numbers. "I have always enjoyed mathematics," says Jesse who maintains a 3.8 GPA while occasionally playing Intramural Football.

The Sul Ross Student Association is an organization of various elected student representatives for the purpose of working towards a better university. Led this year by Joe Bill Averitt, the SA sponsored student elections, Homecoming activities, a Johnny Bush barbeque and dance, plus a host of free movies and dances. SA sessions are held each week and all interested students are invited to attend and voice their opinions.

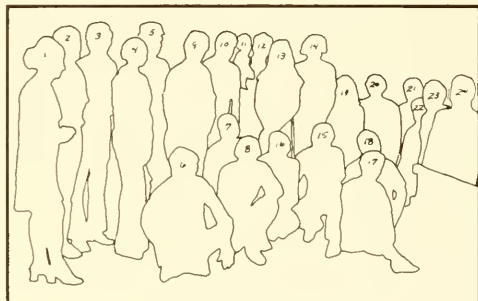

Black Students Association

The purpose of the Black Student Association is to promote Black awareness, inter-relationships between all minority students and the student body in order to create a spirit of brotherhood and a sense of togetherness. During the fall semester the BSA sponsored a splash party, a basketball game with the Spanish Club, and a talent show. Any full-time Sul Ross student is eligible for membership.

The Sul Ross Chemists' Club was formed to expose the students to a wider range of topics in the various fields of chemistry as related to industry, medicine, and teaching. It gives the students an opportunity to meet and talk with students and professors from other universities and persons in the industrial and technical fields of applied science. The club sponsors lectures, seminars, and trips to meetings of the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Chemical Society. The club also encouraged local high school students to attend the lectures, seminars, and tour the campus and Science Departments. An interest in the club and its activities is all that is necessary to join the club.

French Club

The French Club is organized with the purpose of fostering an awareness and an active interest in French language, literature, and culture. Membership is open to anyone who is a student or a professor at Sul Ross, and visitation at meetings is encouraged. The French Club plays a role in furthering an understanding of Gallic civilization. This is accomplished through informal programs presented at meetings which include short talks, the showing of slides, presentation of French music and singing, and sampling of French cuisine. The French heritage of the United States is stressed, as is the need for travel and correspondence with French-language peoples.

Geological Society

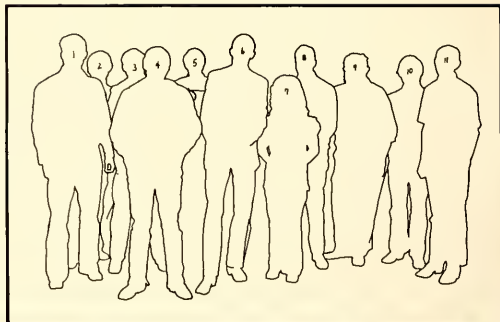

The purpose of this organization is to promote the science of geology and related subjects. Any person interested in these fields may be a candidate for membership. Membership which primarily comes from geology majors and minors is divided into three classes: active, associate, and honorary. Some of our activities include: semester bar-b-ques for incoming and transfer geology students, visiting lecturers, providing tutors for freshman geology students, and field trips to points of interest.

Student Art Workshop

Another seemingly underground organization here at Sully is the Student Art Workshop. It is rumored that they do all sorts of crazy things. They climb windmills, romp in cane patches, and hold their meetings in the dark. To the insinuations of insanity, President Gilbert Valenzuela says, "No!" Climbing windmills is just a good way to get high and cavorting in cane patches gets you back to nature. As for lights out meetings, they're just doing their bit for the energy crisis. They also sponsor films, exhibits, and various activities such as camping trips, river floats, parties, and informal rap sessions.

The Paisano Student Grotto is the caving club on campus and is a chapter of the National Speleological Society. The club provides training in cave exploration to its members, and gives advice on proper equipment and techniques. Most of the trips are to caves either in the Big Bend area, in the western Edwards Plateau area, or to the Guadalupe Escarpment on the Texas-New Mexico border. Longer trips have been taken on vacations into Old Mexico. The Paisano Student Grotto is also a member of the Texas Speleological Association and the Southwest Region of the National Speleological Society.

Rodeo Club

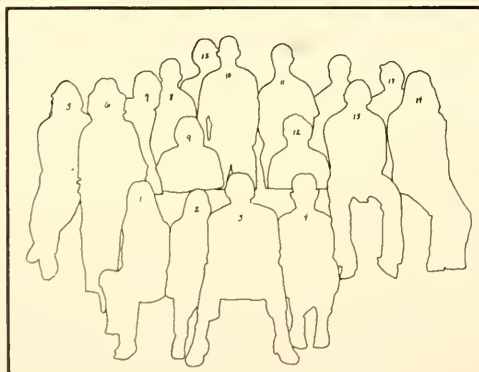

The Sul Ross Rodeo Club is an organization designed to further and increase interest in the wonderful sport of rodeo. The Rodeo Club offers many activities to its members. This year they presented two National Inter-collegiate Rodeo Association rodeos, one intramural rodeo with invitations to area junior and senior high school students, and several dances, including the Christmas ball in December. The Rodeo Club consists of a traveling team to participate in the Southwest NIRA region. All students are eligible to be elected to this team, as it is chosen before each rodeo throughout the region.

The Baptist Student Union is an organization for students of all denominations. All Sul Ross Students can enjoy the BSU center as a place to study, play ping pong, watch football games, or have friendly rap sessions with friends. Activities include the BSU convention held each year in Dallas, retreats, mission activities, guest speakers, and various fund raising projects.

From various and asundry locations in the teeming metropolis of Alpine, Texas, in the early hours of Monday through Friday, unseen, unnoticed members of a small but powerful organization ready themselves for a special assignment. In a basement room with blackout curtains they assemble to compile collected data for their project. They have facts and figures, names and faces, and pictures — millions of pictures. Using the Sul Ross State University Art Department as their legitimate front, 13 dedicated individuals under the direction of Ms. Jill Cypher, work ceaselessly to bring you a documented annual report. Their code name—“BRAND Staff.”

The SAGE, the Sul Ross State University student literary magazine, is a joint effort of the English Department, the Art Department and the Graphic Arts Section of the Industrial Arts Department. It gathers together samples of all forms of student writing including poems, short stories, essays, and drama. Students of the Art Department illustrate the written material with original drawings, serigraphs, etchings and various forms of mixed media, while the Graphic Arts people have the task of combining all of the material and publishing it in an attractive format.

What is a student newspaper? It is more than six or eight pages of printer's ink. Behind the scenes is a handful of students, each pulling his own share of the work: reporting, editing, layout, proof-reading, headlines, advertising and circulation. The Sul Ross SKYLINE is a team effort, and the goal is to provide the campus community with as much news and features as readers want. The SKYLINE appears weekly through rain, or snow, dark of night, or even deadlines.

Alpha Chi

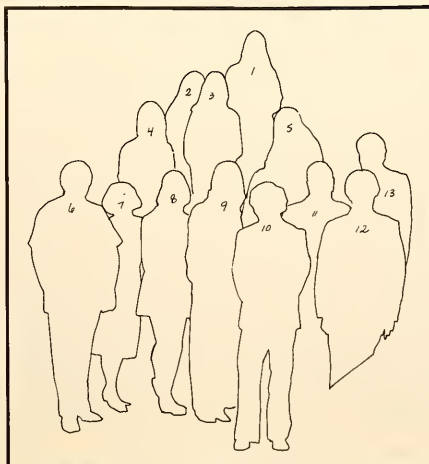

Alpha Chi, national honorary society, promotes scholarship in all areas of study. Alpha Chi restricts its membership to a select group of students of junior and senior standing who maintain a 3.3 GPA. These scholars are recognized each fall at a formal initiation ceremony.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega (Gamma Iota Cost), an undergraduate drama department organization, is a National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity. Their goal is to recognize achievement in drama productions, promote interest in drama on campus and serve as public relations liason with ex-students. Alpha Psi Omega gives an annual scholarship to an outstanding student who shows competence and promise in drama performance, and also four medals for excellence in acting. The members, assisted by graduate members and faculty, sponsor reunions for ex-students, send out news letters and provide after theatre receptions in the Green Room of the theatre. In 1973, Alpha Psi Omega prepared and presented the winning float in the Homecoming parade ("Thanks for the Memory") representing 50 years of motion picture stars.

Sachems celebrated its 50th anniversary as the oldest organization for young women. Members were selected on the basis of scholarship, character and service. A prestigious group, Sachems undertook timeconsuming tasks such as the annual Talent Show, Best Dressed Contest, Work Day and Teacher Appreciation Day. A Christmas party was given for the special education classes. In all phases of school life, Sachems members exemplified interest and dedication as well as high ideals. Sachems placed members in Who's Who, Student Congress, Dean's List, Homecoming Court, Cheerleaders and Alpha Chi.

The Epsilon Eta chapter of Phi Mu Fraternity is in its fifth year of existence at Sul Ross. This sorority is a social-social service organization. The girls do auxiliary work at the hospital and visit the Alpine Rest Home. In November a "Hike for Hope" (the organization's national philanthropy), was organized which brought in almost $600. Sul Ross girls are invited to join through pledgship and a formal initiation ceremony highlights the year's activities.

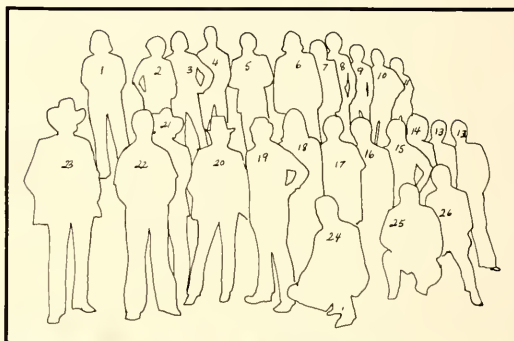

The slate of activities for the Beta Beta Gamma chapter of Alpha Kappa Lambda was full from the first day of registration until the last day of the spring term. Besides the fall rush program and the traditional Big Brother-Little Brother ceremony, members participated in clean-up drives, March of Dimes, campus beautification; they worked closely with the administration and with the local Chamber of Commerce to provide better relationships between Sul Ross and the Community.

The AKL float was awarded a 2nd place at the Homecoming parade, breaking a 3-year-first-place streak. Plans were made to improve their house by using the efforts and manpower of one of the pledge classes in four years. They were ably assisted by members of Alethia Kai, the Little Sister Organization.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, with 310 active chapters on college and university campuses, is the largest of the national social fraternities. The Society of Physics Students was formed for the purpose of advancement and diffusion of knowledge of physics and encouragement of student interest in physics throughout the academic and local communities. Weekly space movies and/or slide shows from NASA, private firms, government agencies, and foreign embassies are sponsored by the club. Monthly field trips to radiotelescopes, communications facilities, etc. are also included on the club's agenda as well as NASA research projects and a campus FM radio station. An interest in physics is the only requirement for joining the club which is affiliated with the Department of Mathematics, Physics, and Astronomy.

On a Tuesday in August, the twenty eighth day, the Johnny Bush Band came to Sul Ross to play. A Bar-B-Que picnic was served on the mall and we sat on the grass, or the steps, or the wall and we ate and we listened, all sitting around as they plugged in and tuned up and made a good sound. The Rock music fans didn't mind in the least. His was mood music made for a Bar-B-Que feast. We learned what the good western sounds were about and a rock band took over when Johnny gave out. When the food supply dwindled and evening came on, the people adjourned from their seats on the lawn. Everyone came inside and got out of the cold and we partied and danced till the night was quite old. We'll remember the dance and the meal on the mall, cause a wonderful time was had by all.

For the second year riding, Tom Hutchinson, past Texas State Bike Champ and member of the Lubbock County Wheelmen, edaled away with first prize. His time for the twenty four mile course was 58 minutes and 38 seconds, that's a big fifteen minutes less than his own winning time last year. Mike Furrey, a Sul Ross geology student from Midland, dropped his socks and really dug to come in second. A notable third place was won by Bill Finnern, the pride of Alpine High, who trailed the more experienced Furrey by only 38 seconds.

The ladies broke the ranks of mere cheerleaders to grace the race as riders. It was a real heartbreaker for Sul Ross speed Becky Frahm who missed catching Di Ann Rutherford of the Lubbock County Wheelmen by a tacky two seconds. Di Ann's time was 1 hour, 16 minutes, and 10 seconds for overall fifth place. Wait till next year, guys.

Terlingua Chili Cook-Off

The infamous annual 3-day city of Terlingua, Texas blossomed again in the desert amid airstreams, winnebagos, and truck top campers. Empty beer cans seemed to spring from the very earth as approximately 5000 chili-heads, cooks, tasters, and admirers in general came to see and be seen at the Terlingua Chili Cookoff. Bedecked in turquoise and silver, levis and dry desert dust, the bean and no-bean factions succeeded in getting together the beautiful beer bust everyone had come from far and near to find. As the last airstream ambled off into the sunset, Terlingua's inhabitants knew in their hearts they would return next year to let it all hang out in the Texas town with absolutely no social structure.

Keeping in touch with the business and economic pulse of America, the Department of Business Administration and Economics provides a basis for one to compete for a successful career in any of the functional areas of business, whether teaching or in industry. For the student, this department concentrates in the fields of business education, accounting, marketing, management, finance and secretarial administration. It is led by Dr. Roger Towns, who also serves as director of the Division of Business Administration and Applied Arts.

Degrees in business range from the one-year secretarial certificate to the Bachelor of Business Administration to the newly approved Master of Business Administration. The M.B.A., approved by the Coordinating Board this spring, replaced the Master of Arts degree in business administration. The change, according to Towns, was made to designate more accurately the degree offered.

Wordie Burrow, Director of Academic Affairs for the Commission on Law-Enforcement Officer Standards and Education, was invited as a guest speaker to Sul Ross P.A. classes

Geared toward administrative responsibilities rather than patrol duties, the Department of Police Administration strives to develop skilled and competent men and women in the complex field of law enforcement. Police and public administration techniques and procedures are successfully taught in the classroom as well as in participative seminars.

Besides providing a fraternal setting for police administration students, the Texas Student Law Enforcement Officer's Association became foster parents of a child in the Appalachians. Also, the department-sponsored group held police-type shooting matches.

Range Animal Science

Moving into their new "home on the range" late this spring, the department of Range Animal Science boasts of its new $600,000-plus complex located on the University's experimental ranch. Under the leadership of Dr. Everett Turner, the department has expanded due to the continuing need of highly intensified, scientific skills required in today's care and management of domestic animals. Concentration areas include animal science, range management, animal health management, wildlife management, meat industry management, agribusiness, and a new two-year program in animal technology.

A herd of new courses have been added this year, to coincide with the department's growth. These include undergraduate courses in ranch equipment, clinical assistance and instrumentation, agricultural mathematics, and pharmacology. Another course added to the ever-growing curriculum is a training course in farriery, or horseshoeing.

Because of the varied interests displayed by the department, three clubs are sponsored; Clip and Brand, for animal science majors; Range Management Club for range management majors; and the Rodeo Club, for the advancement and promotion of rodeo on campus.

Flying off into the wild blue yonder, the Department of Aerospace Studies offered for the first time a Flight Training Instructional Program. Four students gained their private flying certificates from the newly-founded program. The course required on-the-ground and in-the-air instruction.

The Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) program strives to commission second lieutenants in the United States Air Force while they are completing their regular academic program toward a bachelor's degree. Headed by Lt. Col. Walter Turner, general military and professional officer courses, as well as corps training, are taken as electives by the ROTC student.

Sponsored by AFROTC, the Arnold Air Society stands as a community service organization while at the same time it furthers the goals of the Air Force. The Blue Knights, AFROTC drill team organized this year, performed several marching drills in area parades.

Individuality is art. And vice versa. The department of Art strives to develop each aesthetic mind on its own level, whether it be in the area of ceramics, design, drawing, jewelry, painting, sculpture, printmaking, or advertising design. Several degrees, which now includes a professional degree, are designed for teaching as well as professional careers. The department is chaired by Miriam A. Lowrance.

The Art department houses the Sul Ross Art Gallery where student and professional artists regularly hold exhibits. Also, summer workshops, utilizing some of the best art instructors of this area, are held. Finally, by promoting art through exhibits and lectures, the department-sponsored Student Art Workshop serves as a social organization for the art-minded student.

Exploring the intellectual and imaginative accomplishments of the past and present, the Department of English caters to those students who are fascinated by the world of communication. This department, chaired by Dr. Elton Miles, centers its studies around English and American literature, creative and technical writing, and the historical and analytical aspects of the English language.

The English Department sponsors the Alpha Zeta chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, national professional and honorary English society. It also serves as one of three sponsors of the SAGE, student literary magazine.

Music

Harmonizing the creative musician with a gainful career, the Department of Music offers a medley of degrees for the many facets of the musical mind. Led by chairman Don Chandler, the department predominantly trains its majors for the teaching profession.

Outside the theory and practice rooms, student musicians merge their vocal and instrumental talents in many University-sponsored activities: the Lobo Marching Band, the Concert Band, the Rock Ensemble, Brass Choir, Wind Ensemble, Woodwind Choir, Concert Choir, Wind Ensemble. Among these different groups, many recitals and programs were presented, including "It's Getting Late for the Great Planet Earth," a production sponsored jointly by the Vocal and Rock Ensembles. Once again, the Rock Ensemble traveled to the Lubbock and central Texas areas for goodwill concerts.

Two clubs are sponsored by the Department of Music so that students may "band" together under their musical interests. They are Kappa Kappa Psi, national honor society for bandmen and Tau Beta Sigma, national honorary band sorority.

Serving to complement the teaching fields, the library science program enables the prospective teacher to make effective use of the library and thus enhance the learning of students. A teacher may gain an endorsement in library science on the elementary or secondary teaching certificates. The program, headed by library director Jack Todd, thus develops an understanding of the role of the library and its services in modern society.

The Department of Foreign Language, headed by Dr. Raymond Wheat, offers courses in French, Spanish and German. While a major is offered only in Spanish this year, French and German fulfill the foreign language requirements of the Bachelor of Arts degree. This department often performs a supportive role of police administration and science majors. The department sponsors two clubs—the Spanish club Los Tertulianos, and the French club.

Speech and Drama

Young and old alike enjoy the outdoor summer theatre

Stressing flexibility, the Department of Speech and Drama follows a simple credo: individual concern, individual opportunity, and individual responsibility. Added to the broad realm of speech and drama are several new classes: Contemporary Theatre, Public Speaking and Advanced Phonetics. A new attraction this year is semester credits for summer theatre.

Under the lead of Dr. James Maloon, the department sponsors the Sul Ross University Theatre, which presents plays throughout the school year, as well as a summer repertoire at The Theatre of the Big Bend. This fall, Jo Gallagher Green directed "The Owl and the Pussycat," and Maloon directed "The Killing of Sister George." The spring schedule includes "In White America" by graduate assistant Rod Davis, as well as another production which will tour South Texas. The play will be presented to junior colleges and high schools.

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic club, is sponsored by the department. Members provide receptions after play performances as well as present an annual scholarship to outstanding drama students.

Biology

Training professional biologists for teaching and research careers is the aim of the Department of Biology. Led by Dr. Barton H. Warnock, this department is continually updating its curriculum, maintaining equal amounts of botany and zoology.

This year, several new classes have been added on both the graduate and undergraduate levels. "Man and His Environment," Biology 3311, offered last fall, delved in to the environmental crisis. For the graduate, four classes were added to the program: "Wood Anatomy of the Higher Vascular Plants," "Topics in Microbiology," "Biology of Southwestern Vertebrates — Herpetology," and a topical research course.

The Epsilon Omega chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national biological society, is sponsored by the Biology Department. Seminars and speakers provide the members a chance to get together under their mutual interest — biology.

Leading the way as the initiator of the Personalized System of Instruction (PSI) program, the Department of Chemistry permits the student to excel at his own pace. The innovative method of study was applied to Organic Chemistry, an undergraduate course. Considerations for expansion will depend on the success of this course.

The Chemistry Department, chaired by Dr. James G. Houston, seeks to train professional chemists as well as to accent other departments by providing chemistry courses geared towards other scientific areas. Dr. Houston also serves as advisor to the pre-professional curriculum.

The Chemistry Department recently reactivated the Sul Ross Student Affiliate of the American Chemical Society. The active 25-plus members take part in the National American Chemical Society by attending monthly meetings of the Permian Basin chapter in Midland. School-wise, the group sponsors speakers, visits the area high schools, and provides a tutoring service on use of the slide rule.

Geology

Coming down to earth, the Department of Geology strives to produce able students for the petroleum and mining industries, as well as for teaching earth science. Concentrating this task within the undergraduate realm, geology offers a wide variety of innovative courses including oceanography, astrogeology, meteorology, and environmental geology. The department is chaired by Dr. Romeo M. Flores.

Several new, unique courses have been added to the curriculum in the last few years. "Oceanography" studies the oceanic processes and is supplemented with a scuba diving lab. "The Natural and Cultural History of the Southwest," a seminar, studies the many aspects of our area and is highlighted by a trip to the Grand Canyon. Another new undergraduate course is "Air Photo Interpretation."

Each year, the Geology Department welcomes earth science junior-high school students from the surrounding areas. A tour of geologic formations near Fort Davis, Marathon, and the Big Bend is sponsored for these groups by the department. Also, three clubs are sponsored by Geology Department faculty: the Geology Club, Caving Club, and the Big Bend Bike Club.

Mathematics

Interrelating fields of study, the Department of Mathematics, Physics and Astronomy offers a bachelor's degree in Mathematics. Yet, astronomy and physics serve to meet the laboratory science requirements for many other programs. Dr. G. H. Moller, department chairman, is presently on a leave of absence in Hamburg, Germany.

The Astronomy Department houses an on-campus observatory that is equipped with a permanently mounted, 12.5-inch reflecting telescope, three 6-inch reflecting telescopes and 3.5-inch Questar. Weekly stargazing sessions for students and faculty are held at this site under the direction of Merwin Forbes.

Designed to spark an awareness of changing human conditions and the forces surrounding these conditions, the Division of Social Science offers a broad yet thorough foundation in the fields of history, political science, Bible, geography, psychology, and sociology. Led by the director Dr. Earl H. Elam, this division strives to provide students with a liberal foundation in the social sciences.

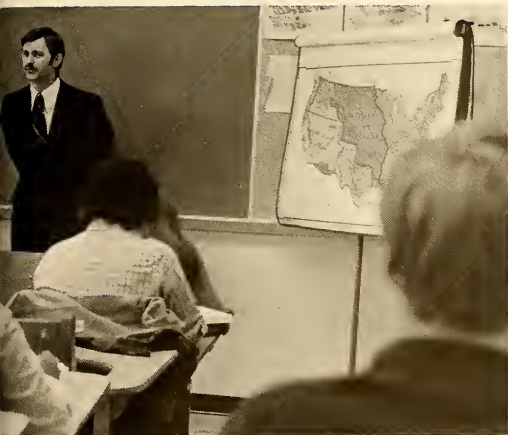

Annually, the Social Science Division sponsors a history and political science meet for area high schools. In addition, Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history club, and the Social Science Club are both sponsored by their respective departments.

Sociology

Preparing students for teaching careers in elementary and secondary areas, the Department of Education boasts of certifying 55 percent of Sul Ross graduates. Led by chairman Dr. Charles Lamb, future teachers are versed in the principles of learning child growth and development, personal adjustments and mental and physical hygiene.

A new feature offered by this department is the "endorsement on a certificate." This added attraction allows students to gain the regular teaching certificate plus the training to work with language learning difficulties.

Two clubs are sponsored by the Education Department: Texas Student Education Association and the reactivated Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society.

Education

Constantly growing, the department of Health and Physical Education gives professional training for future instructors of health and physical education, directors of recreational programs, athletic coaches and driver education trainers. The department, chaired by Dr. Paul E. Pierce, strives to create an awareness of the need for health and physical education in our everyday living. This is attained through activity courses, as well as through physical education and health courses.

The Athletic Program, directed by Richard Harvey, includes football, basketball, track, and golf for men, and volleyball for women. An intramural program, also sponsored by the department, includes men's and women's football, cross country, basketball, volleyball, swimming and diving, and softball. The department also sponsors the Physical Education Majors (PEM) club.

Nestled on the side of SR hill, the Industrial Arts department has experienced a steady growth due to the increasing demand for properly trained personnel in industry. For the industrial arts student, opportunities are plentiful in the areas of metals, woods, drafting, crafts, industrial power, and graphic arts. The tremendous growth in each of these training areas coincide with the growth of the Sul Ross department. The industrial arts program is directed by Dr. William Leavitt.

The department sponsors the Industrial Arts Club, whose purpose is to further professional interest in the fields of industrial arts education. Each fall semester, the club sponsors an open house in order to exhibit the many phases of industrial arts.

Dana Jones, head photographer from Anchorage, Alaska, plans to teach vocational graphic arts. Dana was not available for photograph.

Vickie Smith, a graphic arts major from El Paso. Vickie plans to be an independent professional photographer.

Ronnie Kinney, from Seagraves, is a social science major who plans to teach school in Oregon.

There's a lot of people in this yearbook that you can't see and without their help, you wouldn't be reading this now. A special thanks goes to everyone at the print shop—Brenda in particular. Then there's the photographers—Dana Jones, Vickie Smith, and Ronnie Kinney. Ray Ray Valencia deserves praise for his diligence and Ray Nichols gets a special thanks for everything. And me? Just let me rest in peace.
